Austria Mission

Administrative History

UNRRA operations in Austria began in the summer of 1945 with the dispatch of teams of UNRRA workers to assist the occupying Military Governments in the administration of displaced persons camps. Zone Directors in the French, British, and United States Zones supervised this camp management work under the close control of military officials. A Central Headquarters was formally established in Vienna by an agreement dated 26 November 1945, and Brigadier R.H.R. Parminter became Director-in-Chief.

In the meantime the UNRRA Council had resolved in August that Austria should be treated as a liberated area and hence should be eligible to receive relief and rehabilitation assistance. Brigadier Parminter was instructed, on his appointment in September, that his duties would include relief and rehabilitation work as well as responsibility for displaced persons operations. Although the two functions were maintained as distinct parts at the beginning, they were gradually integrated into a single Mission office. Brigadier Parminter assumed the title of Chief of Mission on 1 January 1946.

The peak of the Mission's operations was reached in August 1946. When the total staff numbered 1,368 but after this date there was a continual decrease leading to the transfer of displaced persons work to IRO on 30 June 1947 and the final liquidation of the Mission on 29 February 1948.

The records listed below were received by the United Nations in extreme disorder, and a few significant files appear to have been lost. The remaining files have been arranged as nearly as possible to conform to the pattern of the administrative structure of the Mission. Because the Displaced Persons Organization maintained a status almost apart from the Mission proper during most of its life, its files were kept separately. Most of the headquarters files on this work (which included also many of the papers of the Mission's Department of Relief Services) were turned over to IRO. Remaining files on DP work comprise most of the material listed below under the three zone Headquarters and their field offices.
