

PROTECTING
THE PRESENT

PRESERVING
FOR THE FUTURE

UNITED NATIONS
Archives and Records Management Section

PROTECTING THE PRESENT PRESERVING FOR THE FUTURE

Knowledge of the Past Creates a Better Future

The United Nations Archives

The UN Archives preserves the records of yesterday and today, while promoting accountability and transparency.

Mission

The Archives works to acquire, preserve, and make available archival material: paper documents, photographs, maps, architectural drawings and electronic records.

Archives' Users

The UN Archives is open to the public. The materials are available for research, teaching, legal proceedings, publication, television and radio programmes, or general interest.

MORE: UN Archives Mandate
<http://archives.un.org/ARMS/content/un-archives>

UNITED NATIONS
Archives and Records Management Section

EMAIL arms@un.org

WEB

<http://archives.un.org/ARMS/>